

One Of These Days Bass Tab by Pink Floyd

There are two different basses on this song. One on each stereo channel. The first bass heard is the one with new strings on the right channel. The delay is set at 296 milliseconds and it has 7 echoes after the initial attack. The second bass with dead strings comes in a bit later in the left channel.

You may have to play around a bit first to get the timing, but after that, there isn't much left to the song.

Basically that is the whole song. Just repeat the notes A & B over and over. There are some slides on and off of the notes that you can hear when you listen to the song. There are also parts where one of the basses is silent that you can hear and pick out yourself from the song. Just play around with these two notes and you have the whole song.
